

Christmas at St Michaels Museum

St Michaels Museum presented three special events as part of its support of the Christmas in St Michaels Weekend. A special exhibit developed by Kate Fones and Betty Seymour in collaboration with Bev Pratt from Christmas in St Michaels presented the history of the Christmas in St Michaels Celebrations starting 25 years ago. This exhibit attracted a lot of local residents who were very pleased with it. For the third year Richard Gordon brought his model train setup from Goldsboro and village and trains were setup in the Chaney House with a satellite line going around the large tree in the front yard. As usual this was a big hit with young and old. Finally the traditional exhibit of antique toys and ornaments was seen throughout the buildings. Visitors were treated to hot cider. The program was very popular and visited by some of the largest crowds to ever visit the museum. Everything was free and the visitors were impressed. Further information may be obtained by calling 410 745 0530.

St Michaels Museum decorated for Christmas

Richard Gordon's Model Village in the Chaney House

Outside train; a hit with the children